Challenges

1 What significant economic, social or environmental obstacles have you encountered in the production, procurement, use and/or promotion of CSPO and what efforts did you make to mitigate or resolve them?

-Majority of palm oil farmers are independent smallholders in Thailand. In order to educate and grouping for certification, this would need support in national level in term of policy from government. - Availability of CSPO in Thailand still limited at below 5% of total national production.

2 In addition to the actions already reported in this ACOP how has your organization supported the vision of RSPO to transform markets in other ways? (e.g. Funding; Engagement with key stakeholders; Business to business education/outreach)

- We previously had a project with Shell and our mills partners to fund / conduct training for independent smallholders certifications. For this project , there were about 700 independent smallholders certified. - Now we are on discussion with the government to expand the scope of our project to support smallholders in bigger scale.
