This may include your usage of RSPO Credits to cover gaps in certified uptake, changes due to business environment, variations due to stock positions or efforts to support independent smallholders beyond volume commitments.

We are achieving to reach 100% RSPO certified sustainable palm oil productions since 2012 thanks to the fact that we are buying RSPO credits for our raw material that are not RSPO MB or SG certified. This non physically RSPO certified product represents a small part of our palm derivatives volume due to the that our supplier business reality makes it harder to reach 100% RSPO physically certified volume.

Also, we are working in close relation with our lab to avoid the use of non RSPO physically certified product in our formula and we have banned all palm based raw material that is not RSPO MB or SG certified for all new raw material.

The volume declared is excluding palm ingredients that are not directly purchased by our purchasing department, such as those purchased by subcontractor partners.

We joined ASD in 2019 to contribute to the sustainable transformation of the palm oil derivatives sector. ASD offers us a collaborative platform with other companies in the sector to:

Increase transparency on our palm oil derivative supply chains;

Support responsible production that respects forests, human rights and good agricultural practices;

Share tools, data and best practices to improve our actions and those of our suppliers in the field;

Contribute to systemic change, aligning our commitments with those of the industry and local stakeholders.

Also, we engage our supplier in the transformation of the derivatives palm oil sector by assessing our main palm suppliers using the Sustainable Palm Index (SPI), which evaluates their sustainability practices, including traceability, certification, and compliance with NDPE commitments in their palm supply chains.

Coming to Small holder, we are supporting the Kaleka initiative producers located in Indonesia (Central Kalimantan) by buying our RSPO credits to them directly since 2024.
