We will continue to offer and supply RSPO certified products based on customer demand. Our customers want more customization with respect to traceability for their specific supply chain and despite the complexity, we continue to work to find ways to improve tracking and reporting at origin.

We are committed to a transparent, traceable and sustainable palm supply chain by 2025. Our Sustainable Palm Oil policy is rooted in the Principles and Criteria of the Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO) and we believe they serve as the primary global sustainability standards for palm products and encourage all end-users of palm oil and palm oil products in the mature markets. We also promote the use of RSPO certified materials to our existing customers whom are either sourcing conventional materials to move to RSPO certified products in order to meet our Shared Responsibility target.

We had conducted awareness building session with customers regarding RSPO certification in bid to help them to be more aware of RSPO. We also promoting the uptake of Independent Smallholder CSPO with our customer.

Also, in an effort to address growing consumer demand for sustainably sourced goods and our customers own sustainability goals, Cargill's U.S. refineries were 100% RSPO certified as either mass balance or segregated from origin. As of October 2023, Cargill no longer offers conventional palm oils in its U.S. portfolio. However, Cargill has been offering RSPO Segregated palm, palm stearin, palm olein and RSPO Mass Balance palm kernel at its Charlotte, NC facility since 2020. Likewise, we hope to continue sponsoring RSPO events in North America, such as the LATAM conference held in Miami. In North America, Cargill has offered our customers RSPO-certified palm oil at the mass balanced level for more than a decade.

Cargill is a member of the Supply Chain Traceability Working Group, Human Right Working Group and part of the Board of Governors of RSPO. Cargill and 4 other palm companies convened by Forum for the Future, an independent non-profit working with private and public organizations to solve complex sustainability challenges, under the umbrella of the Decent Rural Living Initiative. The initiative seeks to improve the protection of human and labor rights of workers in the agriculture sector. The goal is to empower rural communities by establishing cross-industry and stakeholder partnerships to address worker-centric barriers and going beyond compliance. To lead the process of certification system and standard for independent smallholders through various platforms (standing committee Smallholders, Biodiversity HCV Working Group, Partnership with NGOs and other parties).

We are participating in four landscape programs in Indonesia. To increase use of sustainable practices by smallholders around our operations, we are implementing programs near our Ketapang and Hindoli plantations. In Ketapang, West Kalimantan, Cargill, IDH—The Sustainable Trade Initiative, JDE Peet's, and FORTASBI (the Indonesian Sustainable Oil Palm Smallholders Forum) are supporting independent smallholders to achieve ISPO and RSPO certification. To date, 5,519 smallholders with total land 11,568 hectares are taking part in the Ketapang landscape program - Cargill West Kalimantan. And 2,500 smallholders supplying to Cargill's Tanjung Dalam mill participated in the Musi Banyuasin Landscape Program – Cargill South Sumatera. Activities included social mapping, land use assessment, polygon map, land legality acceleration, preparation to attain RSPO and ISPO certification, trainings, and building capacity to help smallholders organize themselves into cooperatives. In addition to the four landscape programs above, Cargill has been supporting a jurisdiction program in Siak and Pelalawan District (Siak Pelalawan Landscape Program), in a joint collaboration with other palm oil producing and sourcing companies. The aim is to ensure a sustainable supply-shed of Cargill supply chain and a subset of its activities is to support over 1000 smallholders from 5 cooperatives in the region to be RSPO and ISPO certified.

In Malaysia, continue to engage Wild Asia to support a group of 675 independent smallholders and 5 small growers to be successfully certified for both RSPO and MSPO certification. We aspire to continue to increase the certified smallholder annually.

In LATAM we continued with the implementation of RSPO certification projects for smallholders in Guatemala. One of the most important initiatives is the continuation of the Ixcan project that has already been implemented for several years. We have narrowed the project's scope to work with approximately 25 smallholders, whom we hope will continue on their path toward RSPO certification.

Additionally, we are implementing various initiatives across Latin America to align with and ensure our suppliers' compliance with the EUDR. Some of these initiatives include the continuation of the Forest4water program in Colombia, as well as other initiatives with Proforest and organizations like Geotown. Through these collaborations, we have engaged with all our suppliers in the region to assist them in collecting polygon maps and conducting deforestation analyses. Our efforts to increase traceability have been a significant focus, ensuring that we can monitor and address deforestation alerts in the supply chain effectively. We have also expanded the number of projects implemented with Solidaridad in Colombia. In addition to focusing on Inter4Value, we have incorporated a new project aimed at further assisting smallholders in identifying gaps related to our sustainability policy and implementing action plans to close these gaps. Furthermore, we have developed several seminars to train various Mills on relevant human rights compliance topics and to prepare for the new sustainability requirements from the European Union. For the upcoming year, we will continue with the aforementioned initiatives, but we will place greater emphasis on increasing the legal compliance of our suppliers, ensuring human rights, and achieving our goal of 100% traceability for the entire supply chain in Latin America. Consequently, we also aim to guarantee a deforestation-free supply chain by the end of 2025 in LATAM.

We have worked jointly with RSPO LATAM in offering capacity building spaces related to topics included in the standard and in NDPE pillars that remain a challenge for growers in LATAM. The focus of initiative was smallholders and sustainability. We have enrolled more than 58 students, among which 29 approved the course and received a diploma to certify it. We also promote the use of RSPO certified materials to our existing customers whom are either sourcing conventional materials to move to RSPO certified products. We had conducted awareness building session with customers regarding RSPO certification in bid to help them to be more aware of RSPO. In LATAM, we met with customers and farmers to explain more about RSPO scheme, its implications and benefits for all parties of the supply chain. We supported the Mexico Holistic Programme, along with part of our customers, ProForest and the Mexican Federation of Palm Oil Growers (Femexpalma). This programme is aiming, among other goals, at creating a local offer of RSPO product through providing direct support to Mexican growers in achieving the certification. 117 mexican smallholders were certified under the milestone A during 2023, and are aiming at milestone B for the present year.
