KIND currently sources all of its palm kernel oil and palm oil from RSPO suppliers at the mass balance level. We and our partners support the RSPO's efforts to improve the sustainability of palm throughout the global supply chain. Working with our business partners, we continue to explore additional opportunities to improve the sustainability of palm along our supply chain. Through our membership in the RSPO, we hope to help advance responsible industry standards.

KIND will continue to work with RSPO-certified suppliers exclusively. As part of our commitment to source palm from RSPO suppliers, we will also: 1) regularly evaluate our suppliers to confirm they are in good standing with the RSPO, 2) ensure they are achieving at minimum a mass balance standard for palm kernel oil, and 3) encourage them to advocate for greater availability of segregated/identity preserved palm kernel oil in the global supply chain.
